

Chris Burke joins Ercom as Senior Advisor to support its international expansion

Ercom completes its Board of Advisors with Chris Burke who will bring a wide range of expertise in scaling up mid-size companies and driving international development

Chris Burke has forged his career in the telecommunications, IT and technology spanning more than 30 years in both Europe and North America. He has held technical and management responsibilities at a telecom equipment supplier (Nortel), a fixed-line carrier (Energis), a wireless service provider (Vodafone), and a consumer device manufacturer (Research In Motion – RIM).

Chris divides his time between board of Directors' positions, numerous advisory roles and his investment and advisory business, Buster Burke Ltd.

Chris' comprehensive experience will help Ercom scale-up its development in the Cybersecurity and Artificial Intelligence businesses, and support its international development.

« I'm very happy to announce Chris Burke as a Senior Advisor for Ercom. Chris's experience in both technological and business worlds will obviously be extremely valuable for us to drive the development of our activities and support our geographical expansion » says Yannick Dupuch, CEO of Ercom.

About Ercom

Ercom is a French technology company that specializes in securing devices, communications and data sharing, and has been in business for over 30 years. Ercom provides a complete range of easy-to-use and government-grade solutions to cover the growing needs for internal and external secure communications for all types of enterprises. Ercom has recently launched its Artificial Intelligence business to address various verticals, starting with fraud management for Banks.

More on www.ercom.com

Press contact

Agence Oxygen, Morad Salehi, 06 79 78 16 76, morad.s@oxygen-rp.com